Introducing the debut lighting collection from Green Wolf Studio; a collaboration with renowned Venetian lighting designer Paola Petrobelli.

Cordless, Murano Glass, Table Lamps

Paola's recent brand collaborations include Christian Dior (Lady Dior as seen by), Peroni (The House of Peroni), and Damien Hirst's 'The Other Criteria'. She has also exhibited at galleries such as Nilufar (Milan), Perimeter Art and Design (Paris), Libby Sellers (London), and Triennale di Milano design museum.

"I love Paola's style. She knows how to get the best from glass and uses the most mind-blowing colour combinations to make each piece irresistible."

- Rebecca Marks, Creative Director

Rebecca Marks, Creative Director of Green Wolf Studio, realised a huge gap in the market for decorative glass cordless table lamps. She therefore worked with Paola to create a collection that puts emphasis on beautiful quality materials that best show the natural play on colour & light.

Handmade in Italy from the finest Murano glass, these exquisite decorative jewel-coloured light pieces add beauty to a table setting and provide an atmosphere to any room. Individual pieces can be layered in multiples or used alone for a more intimate ambiance.

“These colours are totally unique to glassblowing in Venice” - Paola Petrobelli, Glassware Designer

Working with glass is a discipline that inspires Italian London-based lighting designer Paola Petrobelli. She has developed a unique, architectural style and over the past 15 years collaborated with prestigious design galleries, architects, and private clients.

Functionality and simplicity are the key pillars of Petrobelli's vision. Trained as a molecular biologist, Petrobelli understands and exploits the infinite nuances of her chosen material, in terms of the beautiful colours it can produce, the possibility for play on its transparency and the wonderfully sensuous shapes exclusive to the discipline of glassblowing.

GREEN WOLF STUDIO was founded by Rebecca Marks who moved from producing films to producing collaborations that create new stories for both established and emerging brands.

Her design studio works with a range of clients to produce creative projects across interiors, hospitality, art, lighting, fashion, beauty, and publishing.

Recent projects include creating Claridge's first pyjama collection with Derek Rose, curating The Rainbow Room at Christie's using Manual Canovas velvets designed by jewellery designer Solange Azagury Partridge, developing a capsule beauty range between Aerin Lauder and Colefax & Fowler, and consulting for Maybourne Hotel Group's interior design team.
